Tomorrow is the big day!

Our team is ready. The campus is clean. The classrooms are beautiful. So let's all take a collective breath.

We'll see everyone tomorrow bright and early at 9:00AM (doors open at 8:45AM/ 8:30AM if your child is eating breakfast). We have 2 pick-up and drop off locations: Main Entrance and the Garden Gate.

Students will line up at 9:00AM and will start the day with student led Yoga, our Locomotive morning tradition. We invite you to join us for yoga! (Where does my learner's class line up for yoga?)

Tomorrow is also an early release day. (1-3rd- 2:02PM/ 4th-6th-2:10PM) For more information please see www.washington.scusd.edu.

As much thought and intention we've put into our program, I realize that things will not always go as we plan. Yet, as long as each one of us is committed to our purpose and learners I know we will accomplish great things.

To both our new and returning families, who have little one's starting TK, Kinder or or your little one is about to start 6th grade, enjoy the regular moments and give yourself some grace for all you've done to prepare them.

Please have our learners get plenty of rest tonight. See you tomorrow.
